

I very strongly disagree with NVCEC comments calling for the removal of element 1. As bad as my comment will sound - those that find element 1 too much trouble, etc - are simply lazy or just like to complain. Ham radio needs quality operators that understand work, discipline, and committment. I would venture to say that the comments filed in RM-10787 do not reflect the majority opinion of examiners.

R/S,
Ken Hunter - KI4BCL